about

Jade is an Alaska born, Illustrator and Designer who is newly settled in upstate New York with her partner and cats in an off-grid (144 sqf) tiny house. Originally a watercolorist, Jade has bounced around from medium to medium and has landed in the digital world, primarily utilizing procreate for her work. She is currently wrangling a brand new small business, a freelance career and furthering her design education. Jade enjoys bookmaking and pottery along with design/illustration and hopes to incorporate 3D media back into her regular art practice in the new year.
